Flour is quiet but steady; millers are holding up prices notwithstanding a further decline in wheat, and only make a small concession in figures on car load lots. The wheat at markets have ruled weak for several days; buyers talk "scary," and millers will take none but the choice samples, which form only a small share of the offerings; sales at $5.47 for very common, $4.91, 92, 93, 95, 96 and 97 for ordinary to good, and $5.100 for prime; seed wheat is extremely scarce and would bring a premium. Corn is easy at 57.50. Rye is active at 50.60. Oats 41.45. Eggs 20.22. Butter 15.20. Potatoes 35.50. Millfeed is much higher than for several years at this season, and receipts are very light.
